Formica Flooring Announces New Distributor in the Southeast A&M Supply Corporation will distribute Formica Flooring products in five states

Barnwell, South Carolina, September 23, 2009 – Formica Flooring announces the launch of a new distributor, A&M Supply Corporation, who will handle distribution in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee.

“We are familiar with the team at A&M and we are confident that they will do a wonderful job with Formica Flooring,” said Ken Peden, Kronotex COO. “A&M is a performance-oriented company with a strong management team, and we are excited to be working with them to enhance distribution of the Formica brand in this region.”

“We are very excited to carry the Formica Flooring laminate line as we expand our flooring division into the Southeast,” said Matt Thornton, director of the flooring division for A&M Supply. “Kronotex has been a great supplier for us in Florida and we look forward to continued success in the Southeast region with Formica Flooring products.”

Since 1951, A&M Supply has been a leading distributor of high value architectural grade building products for the commercial and residential market segments. The company services customers in the Southeast with 10 locations stretching from Florida up through Maryland.

In 2008, A&M Supply expanded their product mix by adding hard surface flooring products. A&M sells laminate, hardwood, luxury vinyl planks and accessories to flooring retailers. A&M will be expanding their flooring division, distributing these products in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.

For more information on A&M Supply’s flooring division, contact Matt Thornton at 800-889-8554 ext. 3138 or MattThornton@a-msupply.com.
